What we've been learning recently

English – The children have completed and published their Shark Caller recounts – they look outstanding. The students demonstrated exceptional creativity and attention to detail in their writing, effectively capturing the essence of the story. Their narratives showcased both strong descriptive skills and a deep understanding of the themes, making the final pieces highly engaging and well-rounded.

Maths – The students successfully completed the statistics unit, mastering the art of graph interpretation. They not only showed a solid understanding of different graph types but also demonstrated impressive analytical skills when interpreting data.

Wider Curriculum – In Science, we completed an in-depth study of the properties of materials, engaging in exciting and hands-on experiments. These experiments allowed them to explore how various materials respond to different conditions. On Thursday, we participated in a 'No Pen' day, where we spent the day planning and building bridges using various materials as part of our Design and Technology unit. It was a hands-on experience that encouraged creativity and teamwork!

Over the next fortnight we will be...

The children will be enjoying a well-deserved break after a term of hard work and dedication. Their relentless effort has truly paid off, and their progress has been remarkable. We've witnessed countless "lightbulb" moments throughout the term, where concepts clicked and understanding deepened. It has been a joy to see their growth, and we're all eagerly looking forward to embarking on our final term together!
