What we've been learning recently

English – This week we have started our new English topic of letter writing based around the Stone Age. First, we delved into our letter writing by reading The Stone Age Boy, which the children loved. We investigated the key features of a letter such as the address, date and salutations. Additionally, we practiced the skills of using coordinating conjunctions and identifying facts and opinions, using these to help us write our introduction.

Maths – Over the last week in maths, we have been continuing our addition and subtraction unit, focusing on column addition and subtraction with exchanges. Although this is a challenging topic, the children have risen to the challenge and are showing a strong understanding of adding two 3-digit numbers together.

Wider Curriculum – This week we have begun our History unit looking at the Stone Age. First, we looked at how the Stone Age was made up of the Paleolithic, Mesolithic and Neolithic periods. Then, we used our historian skills to investigate a range of Stone Age artefacts and discover what life was like during the Palaeolithic and Mesolithic eras.

Over the next fortnight we will be…

- In English, we will be continuing to look at Stone Age Letter writing.
- In Maths, we will continue to look and understand addition and subtraction.
- Beginning to look at Judaism in RE.
- In PE, beginning Basketball and Dodgeball.
